

Exempt & Complying Development & Development Applications

Below is a snap shot of the process when considering if your development falls under exempt development, a complying development certificate or a development application.

Please note this is just a guide and applicants need to research whether the proposed development complies with criteria for either Exempt Development, Complying Development or requires a Development Application. This information can be found within the State Environmental Planning Policy (Exempt & Complying Development Codes) 2008 <http://www.legislation.nsw.gov.au>.
